3. Improvements to communications links between [redacted] and the Headquarters Buildings have been made by replacing antiquated modems with modern Avanti modems.
